Where to Watch the Golden Globes

By Simona Rabinovitch

Hilarious BFFs Tina Fey and Amy Poehler are back to host this Sunday's 71st annual Golden Globes, the kickoff to Hollywood's awards season. With all of the laughs and water cooler-worthy moments sure to ensue, you'll want to watch this year's show with a crowd. Here are four New York bars hosting watch parties with a side of burgers, bubbly, truffled grilled cheese, nominee-themed cocktails, and more.

Breaking Bad*-Themed Festivities at A.G. Kitchen

A.G. Kitchen's Golden Globes soirée is Breaking Bad-themed in honor of series star Betsy Brandt, who happens to be an A.G. regular. As you watch the awards show at the bar, carry on the Breaking Bad motif with a special beer-based Bloody Mary cocktail, the Felina Michelada, named after the epic series' finale. 269 Columbus Ave., 212-873-9400
